TEMPVS eſt, vt matura iam ætate fructum aliquem, ò Patria, præbeam obſeruantiæ in te meæ. Hunc in Heſperidum hortis natum dedo te dignum, quippe aureum. Ex ijſdem olim Hercules hortis poma trina retulerit ad Euryſtheum, dura imperantem tyrannum. Ego Hercule fortunatior totum Heſperidum pomarium, modico incluſum volumine, tuum in obſequium transfero, Senenſis Patria humaniſſima, nempe parentis Romæ ſimillima filia: vt iam exuberes pomis aureis vniuerſis. Et ſanè nuſquam decentiùs auriferæ collocentur arbores, quàm ea in vrbe, quæ ciuilium decorum aureum viridarium eſt. Ciuium nobilitas vrbis antiquitati coæua: indoles pacatis bellicisque ſtudijs inclyta, & citra fabulam Pallas: comitas, & hoſpitalitas orbem terrarum ciuitate donans: ſanctitas numerosè aucto Cælitum numero terris omnibus præfulgens, Heſperidum auro præclariùs renident. Vt meritò ſuis cum hortis Heſperides Senenſi gloriæ fecerim tributarias. Si ſtudium hoc meum probaueris, ſi parentis affectu ſcribendi vitia condonaueris: næ ego huius operis mala verè aurea putabo, veteriſque Mecœnatis benignitatem tuo mihi beneficio reuixiſſe gratulabor. Vale: interque poma vitam prorogantis auri, ſempiternos & aureos dies viue.

Equidem fateor eo loco (quanquam eſt, qui mordicus illic etiam mala citrea tueatur) aureis malis cotonea, ſeu quæuis alia viliora, atque (vt idem cecinit paſtor) ſilueſtri ex arbore lecta poma, vtcunque in aurum inclinata, minùs propriè ſignificari. Aio tamen, ſola, quæ ſcribimus, ab acrimonia nomen italicum deinde ſortita mala, Heſperidum auro ſplendeſcere.

Aurta mala etiam alia poma in auri colorem inclinata.

[a] Quamobrem audiendi nequaquam ſunt, qui pro arbore Medica, malum aureum ferente, rhododaphnen, ſiue roſeam laurum intelligendam putant: nempe qui roſam pro pomo, laurum pro auro venditant. Nemo etiam, hortatore me, [b] Apuleio ſubſcribat, Medicam arborem & citrum inter ſe longè diuerſas eſſe pugnaciter contendenti: cum eidem conſimiles vtriusque deſcriptiones, & omnium ferè interpretum mira conſenſio apertiſsimè refragentur. Neque tandem [c] Oppio credendum, quanuis apud [d] Macrobium confidenter affirmet, malum Medicam & Aſsyriam, ideſt Virgilianam citrum à noſtrate differre: credo, propterea quòd ingens illi ſtatura tribuitur à [e] Marone, ſtatu hæc modico humiliter aſſurgit. Sed animaduertere debuerat accuratus alioqui ſcriptor, non æquè locis omnibus arbores adoleſcere: ideoque citrum patrio ſub cælo, calidaque temperie amico in ſolo maxima capere incrementa: frigidiore in plaga timidiùs ac demiſſiùs eminere. Sin autem (quæ probabilis etiam eſt interpretatio) æuo eiuſdem Oppij mali Medicæ ſpecies tantùm aliqua, velut aurantia, in Italiam tranſlata fuerit: necdum quæ propriè dicitur citrus, procul à patrio ſolo cæperit peregrinari: appoſitè ſcripſit Oppius, alteram in Italia generari malum citream, in Media verò alteram.

Hoc

Hoc denique ferramentum aversa ſecuri, ſemiformem lunam exprimente, armatur: vt etiam a tergo more Parthico vulnerans, contumacis duritiæ ariditatem ictu amputet ſuperſtitem partes acie non recuſa. Nouo ac facilique inuento forcipem addidit alteram parte roſtratam, & acie præacutam. Eius forcipis arctiore morſu ramos, ſeu luxuriante viriditate ſuperuacuos, ſeu proſerpente ariditate noxios, ſeu ætate enectos inutiles, facile recidunt. Sed in perexiguis anguſtijs ramorum, partem forcipis alteram non admittentibus, ipſum roſtrum, ſine dentibus mordaciſſimum, vſurpant. Hanc forcipis aciem, quàm prædictæ falces, opera velocior intelligitur & expeditior: quod illa non ſine quaſſa motuque arboris aliquo vel impellitur vel attrahitur, arborem hæc mordet immotam: illa lento atque interdum repetito, vno hæc celerique vulnere incidit. Cæterum truncus & rami, craſſitudine duritieque aduerſùs falcem & forcipem contumaces, ſerram exigunt fere bipalmem, acute minuteque dentatam: vt minore attritu minùs perturbet, neu ſtamina, quibus lignea pulpa contexitur, impulſu violentiore non ſine noxa conuellat. Eandem poſtulant vel ſimplici quidem ſed lata firmaque lamina contractam vel, quamuis anguſtam ac tenuem, ferrei tamen arcus ſuperinducti munimento inflexibilem expeditæ denique tractationi manubriatam. Spatioſæ plagæ aſperitatem ſcalpri fabrilis aut falcis acies allæuabit, vt partem deuſtam radat: vt æquabili preſſa citius callum vulneri conciliet: vtque corraſa, quam ſerratura exaſperauerat, ſquamoſa lanugo tabifico infuſcata humore non poſſit. Cera demum terebinthino reſinata vulnus obducet, ne quam aliud noxam ab intemperantia cæli concipiat neu, quod ad cicatricem inducendam tranſmittit, arbor expiret. Illo autem reſinatæ ceræ litu non indigent rami teneriores, quorum anguſtior plaga, circunfuſo atque obſiſtente aeris calore vel frigore facilè aſtricta, viam obſtruit expirationi.
